Bobblitt's Answer to The Young Lady of Lexington.

CRAN ORCHARD, July 31.—A young lady, evidently of great culture and refinement, sends a note which reads as follows: "John Randolph (not the old statesman that fought the duel with Clay in 1825, but no doubt a relative of his) said in a speech at Lexington recently that he had rather have been the author of a speech made in the Senate on the Missouri Compromise, than to have been the Czar of all the Russias." The lady added: "Who made that speech?" She even telephoned to Mr. Randolph to know of him who made the speech and he did not know; and now the question comes to me in my rosy boxer.

The man who made that speech was born near Richmond, Va., in 1777 and died in June, 1852. That man settled at Lexington in 1797 and went into a lucrative practice of law because of his great influence before juries. This statesman first appeared in the Lower House of Congress in 1811 and what was then very unprecedented, was elected speaker at once. That orator was in Congress during the stormy period of Missouri's admission into the union Aug. 11, 1821. He appeared as the great pacificator then, but the greater danger was averted in 1850, when California with a lap full of gold knocked at the door of the union for admission as a sovereign State. Under the "Omnibus Bill" California came into the union as a free State. Texas was to be legally divided into three States, Utah, and New Mexico were to be organized into territories by Congress without reference to slavery; Texas was to be paid $10,000,000 for her claims on New Mexico; the slave trade was to be abolished in the District of Columbia and fugitive slaves were to be arrested and returned to their owners. You will see the South conceded everything, the North nothing.

The constitution already provided that "persons held to service or labor in one State, escaping into another, should be delivered up to the party to whom such service or labor might be due." The Northern States would never obey this plain provision of the constitution and even now will not obey that other provision of the constitution which says: "Fugitives from justice from one State fleeing into another shall be delivered up on demand of the executive of the State from which he fled, to be removed to the State having jurisdiction of the crime."

Do you know of any recent violation of this constitutional provision? It was the North that had that clause inserted in the constitution that the slave trade from Africa to this country might not be prohibited until 1808. It was Jefferson, the democrat, who had it abolished as soon as the limitation expired.

Who fought the battles and won the great victories to gain that 63,000 miles of territory from Mexico? Kentucky, Tennessee, Texas, Mississippi and the South. It was the Indians that did the fast time running at Buena Vista, and the American army saved by Jeff Davis and his 1,000 Mississippians?

In speaking of the compromise of 1820, George D. Prentice, of the Louisville Journal (and he was from Massachusetts) said in 1854: "Thirty-four years ago the Congress of the United States passed an act known as the Missouri Compromise Act. This mis-called compromise was unsatisfactory because it was unconstitutional and unjust. It was unconstitutional because the right to legislate in regard to slavery is not conferred on Congress by the constitution, neither is such a power necessary to the exercise of any other power conferred on Congress. It was unjust because, while it made all that territory north of 36 degrees and 30 seconds absolutely free, it did not do so as to that South of that line but left it to the will of the people who were its inhabitants." The South has always been true to the constitution and the union. The North never, and in the war with Great Britain, 1812-15, and in the war with Mexico, 1846-48, was a vile and infamous traitor. It was Kentucky, Missouri, Maryland, Delaware, West Virginia, Tennessee and the 300,000 troops that the different Southern States furnished to the Federal army that saved the union. Webster, who was no friend to slavery, said: "Let these infernal fanatics get control of the government and they will trample under foot the constitution of the United States and the laws, make laws to suit themselves, deluge the country in fraternal blood and bankrupt the nation." Was ever prophesy more true? If so, when, where and by whom made? But I see no end to this endless article. The reason the South is so far superior to the North in valor and beauty, in chivalry and virtue is because it is settled by a different and superior race of people. But now dear lady, to answer your question as to who made the speech to which Mr. John Randolph referred in his recent speech at Lexington.

Mr. Clay had retired to private life but was called back to the Senate in 1848 and made that great speech to pacify the raging storm between the warring sections in 1850 on the admission of California, when the South was in favor of extending the Missouri Compromise line of 36 degrees, 30 seconds to the Pacific ocean. Let the newspapers throughout the country copy this bit of history for the present generation, and let the American youth when asked who commenced the war, answer: "Old John Brown in October, 1859." FONTAINE FOX BONBRITT.

MATRIMONIAL.

Miss Amanda Price and Marion Carpenter, of Danville, were quietly married by Rev. W. F. Vaughan at his residence here.

Cam Sears and Miss Grace Gooch, daughter of W. R. Gooch, formerly of this county, eloped to Tennessee and were married. The contracting parties live at Somerset.

Mr. and Mrs. George RoBards announce the marriage of their daughter, Louise Neild RoBards, to Mr. William Daniel Gardner, of Chicago, Ill., on September 4th.—Harrodsburg Democrat.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Everett Bell, of Harrodsburg, announce the engagement of their niece, Miss Judith Anne Cluke, to Henry Tilden Hill, of Nashville, Tenn. The marriage will be celebrated on October 10 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bell.

Bro. Wyatt Montgomery, assisted by Brother J. Q. Montgomery, has recently closed a most successful meeting at McCormack's. Twenty-six were added to the church, 20 by confession and six by membership. Bro. Allen Royalty led in singing. In every respect the meeting was a good one, the large audience and good attention showing the earnestness of the people. McCormack's is an old congregation and many have obeyed the gospel there.

Mr. W. H. Mueller, the up-to-date jeweler, and Mrs. Bettie Campbell surprised their friends here by going to Lexington Thursday and having the matrimonial knot tied. Rev. J. R. Savage performed the ceremony and after spending a few hours in that city Mr. and Mrs. Mueller returned to their home here and made their friends aware of what had been done. The courtship, Mr. Mueller informs us, covered a period of six or eight months, but few, if any of our people were aware of the fact that there was anything between the two. As stated above, the groom is a successful jeweler, and besides he is a clever gentleman and a fine business man. His bride is a handsome, popular and excellent woman and Mr. M. is to be congratulated on winning her heart and hand. They will make their home at Mrs. Mueller's cottage on Lancaster street where the good wishes of their many friends will always be with them.

HAD AN AWFUL TIME.

But Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Cured Him.

It is with pleasure that I give you this unsolicited testimonial. About a year ago when I had a severe case of measles I got caught up in a hard rain and the measles settled in my stomach and bowels. I had an awful time and had it not been for the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy I could not have possibly lived but a few hours longer, but thanks to this remedy I am now strong and well. I have written the above through simple gratitude and I shall always speak a good word for this remedy.—Sam H. Gwin, Concord, Ga. For sale by all druggists.

After examining 421 venereans, a jury was secured to try Robert Hocker, colored, for the murder of D. Newton Veal. Hocker waived arraignment and pleaded not guilty. The Commonwealth made its preliminary statement to the jury Saturday but the defendant's attorneys reserved the right to make their statement later. The jury selected is as follows: C. F. Brower, E. P. Perry, W. B. Howman, J. S. Carpenter, L. F. Huffman, Thomas Noon, Leonard Tingle, W. H. Clay, S. A. Glass, James McCormick, W. S. Craig and J. B. Grimes.

A Hungarian peasant at Heusandoo, charged with murdering his eighteen-year-old daughter, admitted the crime but pleaded that she was so ugly he had no chance of getting her married. The jury decided that this plea established extenuating circumstances and brought in a verdict of manslaughter. The court accepted this and sentenced the prisoner to three years' imprisonment.

Ever wake up in the morning with those stuffed up and dry? That's catarrh! A $1.00 outfit of Hy-o-mel will cure you. Money back if it fails. G. L. Penny.

Richmond will have a fair the week of Sept. 10.

Nearly every small city in Central Kentucky is to be connected with Lexington by trolley, according to the plans of a new company formed at Lexington by the consolidation of the two traction companies now operating lines outside of Lexington. The capital stock of the new company is $450,000 and the lines will reach as far south as Danville and Harrodsburg.

Attorneys for the prosecution have found several decisions of the Kentucky Court of Appeals and the courts of other States sustaining their contention that Judge James Hargis was not necessarily in jeopardy because the jury was sworn at the Sandy Hook trial before the prosecution's officers withdrew from the case. They believe that when the case is tried before the Court of Appeals a new trial will be ordered and that the Breathitt leader will face a jury on the charge of conspiracy to murder Dr. Cox.

Remedy for Diarrhoea. Never Known to Fail.

"I want to say a few words for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I have used this preparation in my family for the past five years and have recommended it to a number of people in York county and have never known it to fail to effect a cure in any instance. I feel that I can not say too much for the best remedy of the kind in the world."—S. Jenison, Spring Grove, York County, Pa. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

The brick work was begun upon the $16,000 addition to the Laurel Seminary building, which is now owned and used by the London Graded Schools.

Sam Richardson shot and killed his brother, Jim, at Middlesboro. The weapon used was a double barreled shotgun. Jealousy is said to be the cause of the deed.

Former Governor J. Proctor Knott, one of the most beloved Governors who ever presided the destinies of Kentucky, has made a present of his historic old home "Lea Rigg," located on the outskirts of Lebanon, to the Central Kentucky Chautauque Association.

One building was destroyed and several others damaged by an explosion from an unknown cause in Colyer Bros.' general store at Richmond. Mrs. W. F. Powers was rescued from the building in an unconscious condition. The loss is estimated at $15,000.

A Lancaster special says: In the Police Court here Ben Gwinn was fined $50 for impersonating an officer. He got confused on information given him by a lawyer about the settlement of a claim and arrested a man named Smith, who secured the warrant causing Gwinn to be fined.

The will of L. V. Leavell, president of the Citizens' Bank, was made public Saturday. He left $70,000 to the Lancaster graded school and the remainder of his estate was given to relatives. Mrs. Doty, wife of Capt. J. A. Doty, County Clerk, was given $5,000. Louis Walker, lawyer and politician, who is a nephew of the dead financier, was also well remembered, says a Lancaster dispatch.

The most voluminous deed ever offered for record in this county is now being recorded by County Clerk Ira J. Davidson, says a London dispatch. It contains over 15,000 words, and is a deed to 15,600 acres of land in the south-eastern part of, Laurel county, which is being sold by Col. R. L. Ewell and wife, and their daughter, Mrs. J. D. Smith. Much of the land is valuable for coal and timber.

Of course Taylor will not return to Kentucky. It was not necessary for him to say so. A guilty conscience like his lashes him too severely to believe in any kind of offers of immunity from arrest. The fugitive from justice is as close to Kentucky as he will get till a governor is elected in Indiana who regards the sacredness of an oath.—Frankfort Journal.

Ten Years in Bed.

"For ten years I was confined to my bed with disease of my kidneys," writes R. A. Gray, J. P. of Oakdale, Ind. "It was so severe that I could not move part of the time. I consulted the very best medical skill available, but could get no relief until Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended to me. It has been a Godsend to me." G. L. Penny.

It is said that bees must take the nectar from 62,000 clover blossoms to make one pound of honey. This means that they must make 2,750,000 trips from the hive to the flowers. And when the price of honey is taken into consideration, it will readily be seen that the price of bee labor is too cheap.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carpenter, of Richmond, Ind., will celebrate their diamond wedding if they live until the Spring of 1909. He is 97 and she 95.

Gov. JOSEPH F. JOHNSON, who will succeed the lamented Pettus in the United States Senate from Alabama, is a worthy successor of that distinguished statesman. He is a man of high character, of stainless honor and distinguished ability. He is a man of fine presence and an excellent speaker, and is well equipped for the duties of Senator. Gov. Johnson is a native of North Carolina. He served in the Confederate army through the entire war and was wounded four times. He was governor of Alabama from 1896 to 1900. The honor of the State will be upheld and the credit of the South sustained.

It will be good news to hungry Republican voters that the National Committee has promised to send a larger barrel of money for the campaign this fall than ever before. It is claimed that the committee regards the result as very important and professes to believe that there is a chance to elect a United States Senator. It is hoped that it will continue to think so and send all the money it can here. It will help the Democrats in their business.

THERE are to be 600 speakers and 200 simultaneous Democratic meetings in 200 towns in Pennsylvania to promulgate the doctrine, "Thou Shall not Steal," with special reference to the grafting at the new Capitol. The 600 speakers will tell of the graft that accompanied the erection of the new Capitol, when the cost was stretched from $4,000,000 to $13,000,000, and the slogan will be "Keep a Democrat in the State Treasury."

THE official count will be required in Mississippi to settle the race between John Sharp Williams and Gov. James K. Vardaman for the nomination for United States Senator. Each of the candidates still claims a victory, but it looks like the chances favor Williams, the difference between them will be only a few votes when the final decision is made by the State Committee on August 8.

SENATOR CARMACK, of Tennessee, says he does not want to be Vice-President. "The duties of the office are simply to look solemn and draw the salary. I would rather be a Justice of the Peace or a School Commissioner and have something to do," he says.

"REV." W. O. BRADLEY, former governor of Kentucky, preached at a Negro Methodist church in Louisville Sunday. His text was "Civic Righteousness."

Gov. Swanson, of Virginia, is ready to call the General Assembly in special session to amend the Constitution in reference to fixing railroad rate charges.

Joseph F. Johnson was nominated in joint caucus of the Democrats of the two Alabama houses, composing all but two of the entire membership of the Legislature, to succeed Senator Pettus in the United States Senate, his time to run to 1915.

The Georgia House Committee on Constitutional Amendments decided to report favorably the Senate bill on Negro disfranchisement. The bill is likely to come before the House for final action late this week.

The enormous profits of the Standard Oil Company form the basis of a long report by Herbert Knox Smith to President Roosevelt. The report gives the results of an elaborate investigation of prices and profits of the oil industry. Mr. Smith computes that in 24 years the Standard Oil Company has made $790,000,000 on an investment of $75,000,000. He charges that the company has resorted to unfair means of competition, and has used its power to force prices up. He denies that the Standard has in any manner benefited the consumer, and asserts that under free competition the price would be much lower.

The Limit of Life.

The most eminent medical scientists are unanimous in the conclusion that the generally accepted limitation of human life is many years below the attainment possible with the advanced knowledge of which the race is now possessed. The critical period, that determines its duration, seems to be between 50 and 60; the proper care of the body during this decade cannot be too strongly urged; carelessness then being fatal to longevity. Nature's best helper after 50 is Electric Bitters, the scientific tonic medicine that revitalizes every organ of the body. Guaranteed by Penny's Drug Store.
